

Amber LaRue, Vice President, Healthcare Commercial Banking - Fifth Third Bank

Amber LaRue is a healthcare banking and finance professional with more than 20 years' experience. She is a Healthcare Sales Leader at Fifth Third Bank responsible for consistency in debt structures and client experience for healthcare clients in multiple markets. Amber joined Fifth Third in 2010, when the Bank developed its middle market healthcare banking vertical to bring the expertise of the bank's large corporate healthcare team to our regional clients. Amber is a proud graduate of DePauw University and the University of Chicago Booth School of Business for her MBA.

Encouraged by senior manager and long-time Red Cross supporter, Greg Dentino, Amber has been a Greater Indianapolis Board Member since 2017. She was a lifeguard and swim coach in high school and college, where she was introduced to the Red Cross through several training certifications. Since joining the Board, she has become interested in the broad mission of the Red Cross and the many ways it touches Americans' lives. Amber enjoys being an active volunteer with the Hendricks Regional Health Foundation, Executive Women in Finance and Girl Scouts. She and her husband live in Zionsville with their three school-aged children.
